Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 30-31 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Art Unit: 3738

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims are 22-27 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Crocker et al (5,295,962).

Crocker et al teaches a fluid delivery catheter, said catheter comprising:
a catheter body having a proximal and a distal end, and at least two lumens extending therebetween;

an outer balloon 32 disposed near the distal end of the catheter body and having fluid delivery ports formed therein, said outer balloon being connected to receive a fluid from a first of the lumens; and

an inner balloon 30 disposed on the catheter body within the outer balloon and connected to receive an inflation medium from a second of the lumens, wherein catheter if fully capable of expansion of the inner balloon will expel fluid within the outer balloon outwardly through the delivery ports.

Regarding claim 26, the order in which the steps occur is not specifically defined.

Regarding claim 29, urokinase and t-PA are interpreted as gels; see 11:15.

Claims 22-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Abolfathi et al (5,785,679).

Referring to at least figure 6, Abolfathi et al teaches a fluid delivery catheter, said catheter comprising:

Art Unit: 3738

a catheter body having a proximal and a distal end, and at least two lumens extending therebetween;

an outer balloon 86 disposed near the distal end of the catheter body and having fluid delivery ports formed therein, said outer balloon being connected to receive a fluid from a first of the lumens; and

an inner balloon 82 disposed on the catheter body within the outer balloon and connected to receive an inflation medium from a second of the lumens, wherein catheter if fully capable of expansion of the inner balloon will expel fluid within the outer balloon outwardly through the delivery ports.

Regarding claim 24, balloon 86 is interpreted as having generally cylindrical profile.

Regarding claim 26, the order in which the steps occur is not specifically defined.

Regarding claim 29, see substance 45 and 5:55-6:13.
